

On behalf of our entire Jewish community, the Jewish Federation of Omaha will soon begin a study of Jewish Omaha as a means of understanding our current demographics and planning for our future needs. One of the first steps of the study is to compile a complete list of household information for known community members including names, addresses, telephone numbers, email addresses, and dates of birth for Jewish and non-Jewish household occupants. Alan Potash, CEO of the JFO has asked that the synagogues share our member rosters with the Federation to this end. This information will not be used for solicitation but simply as a reference point for the study. The data will be handled through Mr. Potash's office.

Please know that the entire community will be represented in each aspect of the study - from the development of the survey questions to reviewing results and determining future action. The information gleaned will be of great importance to each of our community institutions.

The last study of this kind in Omaha was completed in 1974.

Our clergy and the Board of Trustees wholeheartedly support this effort and encourage all households to help in the effort.

If you would prefer not to have your household information submitted, please contact your Synagogue's office by June 1st and your information will not be included.
